Secretary to the Provisional Committee. JAMES GILFILLAN, Esq. T is proposed to establish in Shangbai a Limited Banking Company, with the above title, in the belief that there is not only room, but actual necessity, for the additional facilities which such an institution will afford to the large local, coasting, and foreign trade which centres in this port. The great extension of steam communication both by sen and river, and the creation of telegraphic connections, since the existing Local Bank was founded, have greatly added to the importance of Sonng hai, until it has become the great depot or distributing point for the trade of Northern and Central China; but, while it seems desirable that Shanghai should be the head-quarters of the new Bank, and its direction on the spot where the principal interests are involved, a local Committee will be formed in Hongkong for the promotion of the undertaking there.

The success of other public companies in Shanghai and Hongkong, and the evidence. of a large sum of money seeking investment in Ohina, encourage the belief that the proposed Capital for this Bank will be readily subscribed; many influential native merchants have already come forward as active promoters and supporters of the undertaking, and the Committee look for a. very valuable constituency from Chinese

The legal constitution of the Bank is engaging the consideration of the Committee, and reference has been made to London and elsewhere for the best legal advice upon the subject; and it is understood that no Shares will be alleted, nor will operations be commenced until the necessary arrangements have been completed, when further information will be laid before intending Shareholders. in the meantime, applications for shares are invited, until the 15th April, 1872, but must be on the prescribed forms, which can be obtained from the Secretary."

HONGRONG, MARCH 12TH, 1872.

IT was recently announced that Mr. HART engaged in the preparation of a Memorial to. the Chinese Government, having for its object some solution of the Transit Due difficulty. serve the thanks of the whole mercantile community in China should he be able to succeed no doubt give most valuable advice to the at present adopted. Pekin Government upon this subject, as his experience in connection with putting the maritime duties upon a satisfactory footing would go far towards solving the problem in connection with the transit dues. Une difficulty with regard to the subject has understood it. The Consuls were to obtain information after the signature of the Treaty regarding the duties payable on the various routes through which foreign produce was expected to pass; but, unfortunately, the difficulties in the way of performing this task were such that it was never accomplished and the matter was somewhat roughly compromised by the Imperial Government promising that no inland charges should be levied upon goods which paid a half of the tariff rates as commutation of the Transit Dues. This arrangement was never thoroughly recognised by the Provincial Authorities, who to the present day feel that they are unjustly deprived of their legitimate taxes that is, of sums which they have always been permitted to raise in their own districts and as a consequence every attempt has been made to evade the provisions in the Treaty. For this the Imperial Government is in no small degree responsible, as they must have been well aware when they entered upon the transit dues arrangements that they would be unable to carry them out, unless the Provincial authorities concurred in the plan, had never been the case.

This is the point at which it would seem the matter ought to be taken up at the present time, and towards the solution of which it is to be hoped Mr. HART's memorandum will tend. 'Possessing the confidence of the .Peking officials, that gentleman will no doubt be able to induce them at all events to listen to the arguments which have been preferred by foreign Representatives on this subject and if he can succeed in this, the Pekin authorities in their turn may be able to impress the true bearing of the question upon the Provincial Mandarins. Facts are at present available, which could not be advanced before, in favour of a more liberal policy, and which must show the local officials that their fears as to the diminution of their and 89, thus winning by 79 runs in one innings. revenues consequent upon, the introduction The howling of Messre, Desne, Darby, and Foss of the transit due system are in reality groundless, as a more liberal policy would have the effect of increasing trade to such an extent as would much more than compensate for the lower scale of duty charged. This has been noticeably the case at Chinkiang, ral easy catches being missed. The long-stopand some other places where the old monopolies have been done away with, and a better | was a very pleasant one. system introduced; and this fact cannot nossibly have escaped the notice of the Chinese officials. The great point to insist upon is that the local officials are really interested in the adjustment of the matter upon purely financial grounds, that is, that they are keep ing away a large amount of trade by their restrictive policy. If this be once fully understood, it may be boped that a great portion of the opposition now raised by local mandarine will be withdrawn, and that it Q. J. Parkyn, C.D., not out. 3 not out. may be possible to organise some system similar to the Inspectorate of Maritime Customs, whereby the transit dues will become subject to some sort of regulation under foreign supervision. Of course, it would be necessary in connection with such a plan, that the jurisdiction of the local authorities in their own districts should be fully recognised; and it might be desirable that the

The Chronicle and Directory for 1872. Inspectorate of Inland Dues should be worked under independent foreign control; but this could probably be without great difficulty. provided for, if once the provincial officials could be brought to see their advantage in having this long vexed question adjusted collection of transit dues upon a sound and equitable basis for the future.

Our attention has been called in several concerning the manner in which they are at men who have recently joined. These comthat they might be accounted for by the rivalry always existing between members of any body like a Police Force. But they are uttered in so many directions, and with such detail, that we cannot believe they are ample, it appears that the old members of the Force some time ago sent a deputation to wait on the Captain Superintendent with a perfectly respectful petition in which they asked that their pay might be increased so have just joined. This request was certainly not very extraordinary or unreasonable; but the unfortunate men were, we are informed, perfectly astounded by being informed by the Captain , Superintendent that they were committing a breach of discipline, and that all who did not formally retract from the petition within a given time would be dismissed or least of it, seems to be a very high-handed way of dealing with the men, and is not at all likely to tend to the reorganization of the Force. A similar case is mentioned as having happened only a day or two ago, when one of the new Police was brought up before the Superintendent charged with drunkenness and dismissed with merely the fine of one dollar; and it is gravely debated by the old New York. Messrs. S. M. Pettingill & Co., constables whether, if such a dereliction bad occurred among them, they would be treated so lonicatly, considering that the same offence has often been very much more severely punished. There would, in fact, seem to be termed in expressive, if somewhat slang, parblame of all the disorganisation which has arisen, and which is assuredly to be attributed in some degree to the inefficiency and inexperience of the officers placed over the Force. It is, of course, easy, and it may be he received information relating to a Stan- tiff is assistant bailiff of the Court. The ground at Stone Ontters Island in which the patients who died from small por have been buried, is left without any fenning or boundary mark. Considering that it has been regularly conscented as a burial ground, the omission is somewhat striking. The cost of a small fencing would not be ruinous to the Colony, and it would certainly seems that decency and propriety demand it.

A correspondent has called attention to an not of great discourtesy committed by the semimilitary member of the Committee of the Athletic Sports at their gathering on Baturday lust. It appears that a number of European residents, ship musters and others, were watching the sports, when the member above mentioned passed, accompanied by the Acting Registrar-General, and thinking that more space was necessary, addressed the soldier keeping the and they of course were also awaie that such | ground there thus: " Drive those people back -use your stick," Our correspondent holds it is generally considered more civilised and courteous to ask speciators to retire ere resorting to force, and objects that in this case the energetic member reversed the order of things. It would perhaps avoid any imperiousness of the kind complained of if the Superintendent of Police were applied to for a picket on future occasions, as it is not desirable to have the military to keep the ground on the occasion of Civil Sports. We should bave preferred to have given our correspondent's letter, but his indignation carries him a little too far, and it is much too per-

For the Club, Deane, Chater, and Darby were the chief acorers. the bowling of the Services was, however, far from being good, and their fielding, with one or two exceptions, was not at all up to the mark, seveping by Wakem was exceptionally good. The mandarin of the place advised this witness not to go, as he likewise could not be persuaded that the lukong was sent from the Inspector. The lukong brought back a letter to the effect that if the Inspector wanted him; he must come after him himself, as he would not entrust himself with strangers. The evidence of two other Iuspectors, which was in substance the same as the above, having been taken, the case was committed for trial.

The remaining cases consisted of the usual run of "dranks" and "gambling." Among the latter was a case in which a lad of 15 was brought up, and charged with being a hard gambler among the First Street lot. He was sentenced to three days' imprisonment, and the scene of the offence.

Although those of Shenei and and Kansu wear the queue and speak Chinese, they are considered by the pagans as a different people; and this view is corroborated by their features, which differ from those of the Ohinese proper. The pagana use generally, for themselves the well known term " Han jin," to mark their distinction from the Mahomedane. These, including numerous converts of purely Chinese origin, are called Hwei-hwei, and since they are in rebellion. Hwei-fei. The contempt in which the Mahomedans hold the pork eating Han jin, help his comrade and scoure the ringleaders in and the aversion which these have against people living among them and having manners bead, but both policemen kept to three men and customs so different from their own as even to preclude intermarriage, has croated since ancient times much ill-feeling between the adberents of the two religious, and it has much increased within the last decades. The !Mahomedans, who, in general, prospered well, and are a more vigorous and energetic race than the Han-jin, grew proud and overbearing, while these had an advantage by their greatly superior numbers. Acts of violence became more and more frequent. The mutual ill-feeling ingreased when, in 1860, the Tuiping rebels unde a first, though very short, invasion in the province of Shensi. THE AFFRAY WITH THE FRENCH POLICE AT SHANGHAI.

(N. C. Daily News, Feb. 29th.) The French police bad rather a severe ren contre yesterday afternoon with some men or shore from the No. 2 Chinese gunboat. It appears that a day or two ago about a dozen men from the same vessel entered a tenshop and theatre near the Little East Gate, where one of them, presenting a badidollar, demanded that they should have admittance to the play. The doorkeeper refused to receive the bad dol lar, but fearing to provoke the men by insisting on excluding them, allowed them to pass while he called his master. When the latter came, be also objected to the bad coin, but the mer persisted that it was good, and, whether good or bad, they would have their amusement. The ten shop keeper reminded them that they were on ground where inwlessness would not be permitted, and that an officer of their force had only a few days back been made to smart for similar airogance. A native defective of the English Municipal Force, present the men, who had, before joining the gonbost, come under the notice of the police, and the opon this man the insuits the gallant native forces queue by several and hastled about, but managed to get out of their hands and, leiting him-self down by a back window, escaped. The men, however, seized one of the shop people and took him away. Two of them were afterwards arrested, and, yesterday morning, at the Mixed Court, received 50 blows each. Immediately this, leave was granted by the mandaring in charge of the gunboat to a larger party, of men who went to the same teashop and orested disturbance, which they wound up by soi zing another of the shopmen. A French policeman being attracted to the spot, interfored to prevent the man being taken away, and was brutally attacked by the crowd braves, recoiving neveral cuts on the head and face from some sharp instrument, and severe contusious on one arm from bamboos. On assistance being sent for to the sub-station near by, a corporal came down and tried to whom they bad seized, till they got them into the station. The rest retreated, taking with them the shopman. Some of the local rowdie also flung bricks at the police, and one man was arrested. The Central French Station was ut once communicated with by telegraph, and a posse of men went to the place fully armed, but the affair was over. The injured nien are not seriously hurt, but it may be a few weeks before they are again fit for duty.

The affair, it will be seen, has some connexic with a case that occurred last week at the Mi ed Court. The Captain of a Chinese gunbon ring in the Soochow Creek, went to a tea shop, had refreshment to the value of 31, and, after the manner of his class, refused to pay. On the shop-keep rinsisting, be promised to pay or board the boat if a messenger were sent. When the messenger arrived on board the boat, however, he was given 100 blows with the bamboo instead of his cash. Complaint was made a the Police Station, and the case came before the Mired Court-Mr. Hass sitting as assessor. The Ouptain tried to excuse bimself, but failed signally; Chen was of course loth, to punish a mundarin, however netty, though admitting the diagrace of the proceeding. But Mr. Hass in sisted that no such oppression should take place in the Foreign Settlement, whatever might be done under Chinese custom. It notoriously the practice of gunboat men t help themselves at shops of all kinds, without paying; and here was an opportunity to make an example. Let the prisoner be fined half a dollar for every blow of bamboo-$50. In this riew Ohen was at last induced to acquiesce, and the Captain was ordered to take the amount of the fine, the next morning, to Mr. Huan' office. He did so, and abide with, charged to convey instantly all that tians, of whom there are now about 20,000 in the fine imposed on him for daring to use violence was given a receipt for the amount, being "a in the Foreign Settlement." He was further told that he must take his gunboat beyond the settlements, a command which he also promptly direct result of appellants' negligence.

This sentence has encouraged, among the native tradesmen, a spirit of resistance to the extortion of these rowdies; and the row near the Little East Gate was a consequence of this feeling. The gunboat men wanted to see the him into compliance; and thence the row. W against extortion.

> H. B. M. SUPREME COURT: SHANGHAL. A case of considerable interest and importance was the subject of a somewhat lengthened hearing to-day before Mr. Goodwin. Acting Obiel Judge of H. B. M. Supreme Court. The parties in the case are Mesers. Westray and dibbs, of New York; and Mr. John Foster of Foochow. The history of the case is briefly as Mesara. Westray and Gibbs, through their atorneys, Mesera. Gilman & Co., towards the close of 1871 applied to the British Consular Court at Fouchow to give effect to a judgment of the Supreme Court of New York, obtained against Mesers. John Foster & Co. for the sum of $50,000, as balance of accounts between the parties. Defendant opposed the application. and applied to the Court to dismiss it on the grounds: 1.—That the judgment of the Supreme Court of New York was irregular, issamuch as defendants had never been cited to appear, and the case was entirely undefended while they believed that a judgment obtained against a foreigner in an American Court, when defendant was not present or represented, was not binding within English jurisdiction, 2 .-That defendant had a contra claim against plaintiffs, for a far larger amount than is named in the New York judgment. 3. That there was no Court in China where defendant could bring an action against plaintiffs for their contra claim, and the allowance of plaintiffs' application therefore would inflict munifest ant also opposed the admission of documents transmitted by the New York Court as evidence against him in the case before the Consular Court at Foodbow.

The Consular Court decided as to the documents that it would admit them only in so far as they gave the history of the case in New York, but so as in no way to influence the Court as evidence against defendant. And after bearing delaudant's evidence, the Court allowed defendant's demurrers with regard to the contra account, and dismissed the application of

From this judgment plaintiffs forth with appealed, on the ground that the Court had improperly, refused to admit the documentary evidence of the oase supplied by the Suprome Court of New York, whereby their onse was materially damaged, and otherwise the judgment of the Consular Court was against law

The case being thus transferred to Shanghai Mr. Rennie was engaged an Counsel for the appellants, and Mr. Ennies was instructed to conduct the case of the respondent. Previously to the case being heard, Mr. Eames moved he Court that respondent might be allowed to file his cross action agrinat appellants, and that it should form part of the case appealed, and be heard at the same time. He further moved for an adjournment of the case till June next, in order that Mr. John Foster, who is now in America, but is expected in Shanghai by the time mentioned, might be present to give evidence. The hearing of this motion was partially gone into yesterday, but was adjourned, and subsequently the matter was ordered to be argued prefiminarily to the hearing of the

It may be further stated that the accounts of the appellants (Messay, Westray and Gibbs) referred chiefly to tea transactions, commissions on teas, and the purchase and despatch of certain steamers -including the steam tug Woosung-by them to the order of respondent: The cross claim of respondent is chiefly made up of losses alleged to have been shutsined on the steam tug Wooding which losses were the

Though the manner in which the case came before the Court to day was formally only a preliminary motion, against which Mr. Rennis had to show cause why it should not be granted, yet as it was impossible to argue on the motion without, in fact, going thoroughly into the case, it wits agreed that the hearing of the motion and of the entire case should be one and the same. Mr. Lames, while agreeing to the general Hongkong Fire Insurance Company's Sharesprinciple of the law as laid down by Mr. Rennie, cases he quoted were inapplicable to the present America, and had taken some steps towards the was on his brother, a resident in New York, to case, and entrusted the relative documents. Mr. seemed to have been engaged by his brother, but perfectly instructed in the case when Mr. Foslearned only after arriving in China. Mean-Court, but the case for the defence was so imperfect that the Court, in deciding on what was before it, could not fail to give a most unrighteons judgment, as it had in fact done. . Mr. Rennie having replied to Mr. Enmes' argument. His Lordship reserved judgment, but was understood to say that the judgment. versed, and effect given to the judgment in favour of appellants in the Supreme Court of New York .- Courier, March 1st.

Judgment was delivered on the 6th install as follows :-This case was decided in the Provincial Court of Foochow in favour of the defendants, and against this decision the plaintiffs appeal. An action was brought by the appellants, who Kin-fung to travelling merchant are an American firm, residing in New York, U. S. A., upon a judgment obtained by them travelling merchant. against the respondents in the Supreme Court of New York, for the sum of $50,942.64, and travelling merchant. the question is whether that judgment oun be taken here as conclusive. The respondent mow-ter to Hongkong merchant. put in no answer in the Court below, but ap- Suigen Rice, 2,000 piculs, at $2.84, by Kwongpeared and pleaded that he had a large count mow tai to Hongkong merchant. ter-claim against the appellante, and also that Bombay Cotton, 61 bales, at $17.00, by Parhe had not had legal notice of the suit in see merchant to Tai-hing. New York, and that he had authorised his brother in Canada to protect his intefests, merchant to Kin-nam. employing a certain Mr. Ward as lawyer; and that this brother died before the suit came to hearing. The Court below found that the evidence of the defendant John Foster was wanting at the hearing before the supreme to Hongkong merchant. Court at New York, and that therefore the evidence before the said Court was incomplete, and it therefore went into the case again and found in favour of the defendant. What I have to decide is, whether the Court below, or this Court, can reopen the question decided in the Foreign Court of New York. It is well established that an THE British Steamer English Court will ordinarily not reject a foreign judgment as evidence of a debt, where all things upon the face of the judgment appear to bave been | will be despatched for the above perts on or rightly performed and no question as to jurisdiction is raised, unless it bo abown extrinsically that the judgment was obtained by fraud, or by means clearly contrary to natural justice, as, for instance, without any notice, suarmone, or appearance of the party defendant, or any equivalent proceeding. Now in the present of it to be perfectly regular, according to Captain Keny, will have quick despatch as Fancy Woollen HOSIERY, MITIS, CUFFS the procedure of the Supreme Court of New York. An unswer was put in to the suit by Mr. Ward, as attorney for the defendant Mr. Foster, from instructions given him by that gentleman bimself, when at New York, in 1869, from written memoranda and from divers consultations held with him. From Mr. Foster's own evidence it appears that he gave Mr. Ward authority in writing to defend the case. I cannot hold the allegation of the defendant, that he neked his brother in Canada to protect his above. interests in conjunction with Mr. Ward, and that his brother unfortunutely died before the hearing, sufficient to show that uny unfair advantage was taken of him. The whole case and the claims on both sides, as appears by the report of Mr. Nicoll, the referse, to whom, according to the practice of the Supreme Court of New York: the case was referred, were gone into by that gentleman and the proof heard and his report was adopted by the Court. No defence had been raised which would, in my opinion, warrant a Court either of Law or Equity in England to Teject the judgment; and I must accordingly overrule the decision of the Court below, and hold the plaintiffs entitled to recover the sum they claim, with mosts in the original action and also the costs of this ap-The sum claimed on the judgment of the New York Court is $50,942.64 American dollars, and it will be necessary that the value of this sum in Mexican dollars should be estimated.

DOCK , AND EAST-END. which softens, imparts a bluish tint to, and dims the contours, the whole producing the impression of great life, vague, diffused, and Houses, Lands, Tenements, &c. melancholy—the life of a humid country. At Richmond, I felt this still better. From the torrace can be discerned several leagues of country: the Thames, which is not larger than the Seine, winds through meadows, between clumps of large trees. All is green, of a soft green, almost effaced by the distance; one feels the freshness and the peace of the infinite vegetation; the grey sky extends over it a low and heavy dome; at the horizon are whitish mists in floating layers. here and there a darkened cloud, or the violet patch of a shower. From all the ground rises a sluggish mist; one watches it as if it were a piece of muslin drawn between the interstices of the trees, and gradually the floating gauze of the earth reunites with the uniform veil of the sky. How still is the offices. park! Troops of deer feed in the moist brake: the hinds approach the fence, and gaze on the passer by without fear. Can a tract of country be better arranged for relaxing the nerves of the man who struggles and toils? The oaks, the lime trees, the spreading and huge chestnut trees, are noble creatures which seem to speak in low tones with majesty and security; at their feet is thick and tall grass; the blades of grass, whereon the rain has left its tears, smile with a tender and sad grace. A sort of fond quietude emanates from the air, the sky, and all things; Nature welcomes the soul, weary and worn with striving. How one feels that the landscape suits them, and why they love it! Without doubt their climate befits trees, and, besides, they have had no invasion or popular rising to mutilate or cut them down; the national taste has favoured the preservation; olden things have been more respected and better preserved than in France, and among them must be numbered the trees. Those of Windsor and of Hampton Court are as beautiful. From Kew Gardens to Hampton Court extends an alley of gigantic chestnut trees, of which the large pink and white bunches resemble girandoles. The foliage is so thick that underneath it is cool in the height of the sun. Upon the velvet of the grass, constellated with flowers and bordered by nasturtiums, stand forth clusters of rhododendrons, as tall as two men, entirely covered with rose-coloured flowers, amid which bees are humming. There are so many of them, they are so magnificent, of so tender a tissue and of so fine a tone, they are grouped with such profusion in a single clump wholly impregnated with light, that one remains dazzled; it is delicious, intoxicating; almost beyond Nature. A little way farther, in an enormous hot-house, palme, &c., &c., Rent Moderato. as large as oaks, spread their curious vegetation, and bananas unfold leaves which would cover a child twelve years old. This is one of their talents; they admirably understand the architecture of trees, of glass and of flowers; I have not seen even a classical palace or even a poor cottage where it was uncomprehended Sometimes, indeed, the effect is too strong; in the sun, it is overpowering; the incomparable verdure then assumes tones so rich and intense that they cannot be transferred to canvas; they would offend, they would be too raw; it is necessary to enjoy them with the mind, not with the eyes; they are a feast, and, as it were, an outburst of delight; in order to prepare and maintain them, swell and expand the tissues, moisture was required, excessive moisture, the caress and the guardianship of soft vapour: beneath warmer sky, such flowers would be stiffened and dried; they are not accustomed to bear the full sun; hence it is that they break forth to day under his blaze. They have the tint of a beautiful lady; they, too, are patricians developed, preserved, embellished by all the refinements of art and of luxury I have had the same impression at a ful dress morning party, before a staircase filled from top to bottom with young laughing ladies in swelling and sweeping dresses of tulle, of silk, the head covered with diamonds, the shoulders bare. This was a unique sensation, that of splendour and brilliancy carried to the highest pitch-all the flowers civilization and of nature in a single bouquet and in a single perfume.

Hampton Court is a large garden in the French style, laid out in the time of William III. Our style was then the reigning one in Europe. Yet English taste is discoverable here also: the borders have been plant- city. Apply to ed with standard rosebushes, and these, closely trained along the slight espaliers, form columns of flowers. Ducks, swans, swim in all the pieces of water; water-lilies unfold their velvet stars. The old trees are propped up by iron rods. When they die, in order that they may not be wholly lost, the remainders of their trunks are converted into a kind of huge urn. Clearly, they are cared for and they are loved. There are no fences. I noticed young boarding-school girls walk. THE PREMISES in Queen's Hoad, now in ing and playing on the grass, but they never pluck a flower. The following notice suffices Co.
